You are not happy with your smile and you are not sure which cosmetics and correction options are available to you to have a beautiful smile? You should know that there are many cosmetics for enhancing your smile. Your dentist can assess your needs, desires and dental history to determine a suitable choice to help you restore your smile. Here is a summary of some cosmetic dental options.

Teeth Whitening or Teeth Bleaching

Today you can find many whitening options to help a patient achieve a more bright and white smile. Depending on the needs of the patient and a dental health history, a dentist may suggest a procedure in the office or dispense a system that can be used at home. Most importantly, consult a dentist before beginning any teeth whitening procedure.

Bonding

Bonding or gluing improves the appearance of chipped teeth, broken or cracked tooth by applying coloring materials to the tooth surface.

Veneers

Veneers are thin, custom made "shells" intended to cover the front teeth which are chipped or worn, permanently stained or slightly crooked.

Braces

Braces or other orthodontic appliances are able to correct crooked or crowded teeth or teeth that are misaligned.

Dental Crowns

Crowns can help strengthen teeth and improve appearance, acting as a lid and add additional support for a weak tooth, helping to restore a tooth that is already broken or cover a dental implant or a tooth that is stained or warped.

Dental bridges

A bridge replaces missing teeth with artificial teeth. A fixed bridge contains artificial teeth that are connected directly to the jaw or under the gum tissue and can only be removed by a dentist. There is also a removable bridge, which can be removed and cleaned at home.

Dental Implants

Dental implants replace missing teeth with artificial teeth to help achieve a more natural smile. For this surgery, patients must be in good oral health, must have healthy gums and bone structure sufficient to support the dental implant.

Dentures

Dentures are another option for replacing missing teeth. Dentures are used when all or most of the patient's natural teeth are missing.

There are many corrective and cosmetic options available but you should know the importance of maintaining good oral health, using brush and floss every day, eat well-balanced nutritious diet and visiting your dentist every six months for regular check ups and dental cleaning.
